Action Projects

Looks like we're spoiled for choice this year – the recent general election, a presidential election in Autumn, and likely referenda on the Seanad and children's rights. Also this is the International Year of the Volunteer (see page 4).

More ideas are available on our own site here:

Inservice Courses:

Here below are the dates, times and venues for professional development opportunities for teachers of Civic, Social and Political Education (CSPE) during the Spring term. We can send application forms on request. These should also have arrived in schools by now.

The theme of the workshops this term is Using Film in the CSPE Classroom. These workshops will provide opportunities for participants to explore creative and innovative ways of engaging students in their learning of the CSPE Concepts/Units of study through the use of a variety of film clips/DVDs. Each workshop will include suitable methodologies aimed at encouraging the participation of students of all abilities. These workshops are in collaboration with the Irish Council for Civil Liberties. With funding from Trócaire they have developed a set of teaching materials on human rights and film, particularly for use in Civic, Social and Political Education. The materials use a number of the shortlisted films from the last two years of the ICCL Human Rights Film Awards as points of discussion for various human rights issues and as inspiration for student-made short films on human rights. The ICCL have recently launched a Human Rights Film Award specifically for young people, entitled 'Human Rights in Under a Minute Challenge' - a new stream of the competition calling on young people to create their own 30-60 second human rights film. www.humanrightsfilmawards.org

Together with the film resource from the Irish Council for Civil Liberties each participant will receive a selection of other film resources at the workshop, including the following: A View from Here - from the Irish Wheelchair Association Experiences of Childhood - Development Media Workshop The President of Ireland: Role and Functions The Houses of the Oireachtas 2020 Vision - A Closer Look at Ireland's Environment - from the Environmental Protection Agency Ireland and the European Union - from the European Commission

European Year of Volunteering

2011 has been designated the European Year of Volunteering by the European Union, both to celebrate the work of volunteers across Europe, and to encourage those who do not currently volunteer, to get involved so they too can make a difference. President Mary McAleese is patron for the event. The local body for promoting this initiative is Volunteering Ireland. A new website has been set up for the event and is available at <http://eyv2011.ie/>

The site features a section for schools and colleges, where lots of ideas for student volunteering can be found.

Census 2011

The next census will be undertaken on 10th April next. A key component of the success of the census is to make the general public aware that it is happening and of the benefits of the census. The CSO has developed a dedicated census website, www.census.ie, which will provide information and assistance for the public in relation to the census, including a helpdesk facility. This will include CSPE lesson modules.

Senate 2011

Our Press Officer Bernadine O'Sullivan will be running for the Senate (NUI Panel) in the upcoming election. Bernadine is a founder member of the Association and has served previously as treasurer. She has also been President of the Association of Secondary Teachers.

Citizenship Report

The International Civic and Citizenship (ICCS) Report for Ireland has been published (March 2011). The report, and accompanying brochure, can be accessed at www.erc.ie. Some highlights: Irish students performed well above the international average, ranking seventh. Irish performance is similar to Poland, Sweden and Switzerland. The highest scoring countries are Finland and Denmark. A majority of students in Ireland (87%) reported that they expect to vote in future national elections, which is higher than the international average (81%). There is evidence of progress in attitudes towards equal gender rights since 1971. For example, in a similar study conducted in 1971, 22% of students agreed that 'women should stay out of politics' and in 2009, just 7% agreed with this statement.

Activate is published once per school term by the Association of CSPE Teachers—supporting citizenship education in Ireland. Articles and letters for publication should be sent to the editor, Brendan O'Regan, Arklow CBS, Co. Wicklow, or emailed to info@cspeteachers.ie
